

Financial incentives for eligible businesses

Get up to $10,000

Your business may be able to get up to $10,000 (GST inclusive) when you hire an eligible new employee who is either:

- 15 - 24 years of age
- an Indigenous Australian
- 50 years of age and over

Get up to $6,500

Your business may be able to get up to $6,500 (GST inclusive) when you hire an eligible new employee who is either:

- 25 - 29 years of age
- a principal carer parent
- a person registered with an employment services provider for 12 months or more

Wage subsidies

Wage subsidies are paid by your employment services provider to your business over six months. You can set the payment schedule to suit your needs.

Talk to your local Jobfind Employment team to find out more about wage subsidies.

You can access a wage subsidy if:

- you have an Australian Business number
- you have not previously received a wage subsidy for the same person
- you are not an Australian, state or territory government agency
- the person you hire meets the eligibility requirements for the wage subsidy

- the position you offer is expected to be ongoing and for 20 hours or more per week, averaged over the six months of the wage subsidy agreement
- the work complies with employment standards for the position (for example, is suitable work and pays as a minimum the national award wage).

Apprenticeships and traineeships

Apprenticeships and traineeships are also eligible for a wage subsidy along with other financial incentives available to employers under the Australian Apprenticeships Incentives Program.

Paid work trials

Paid work trials can form part of a wage subsidy agreement, excluding those funded by the Employment Fund.

National Work Experience Programme

Employers who decide to hire an individual who has completed a National Work Experience Programme, may also be eligible for a wage subsidy.
